Aadhaar constitutionally valid, rules Supreme Court

New Delhi, Sept. 26- The Aadhaar scheme empowers people on the margins of society and gives them dignity, which far outweighs the harm, the Supreme Court said this morning in a majority judgement that pronounced the national identity card "constitutionally valid" but with conditions.

Turning down the argument of exclusion, the Court said for the "exclusion of a minimal three per cent, the 97 per cent who will benefit due to inclusion cannot be denied it; "One can't throw the baby out with the bathwater," said the Judges.

The majority verdict was read out by Justice Sikri. A Five-Judge Bench, led by Chief Justice of India (CJI) Dipak Misra, reserved its verdict in the case on May 10 after a 38-day hearing. The Five-Judge Bench also comprised Justices A.K. Sikri, A.M. Khanwilkar, D.Y. Chandrachud and Ashok Bhushan.

The SC decided whether the Aadhaar Act, 2016, is valid, if the government can demand biometric and demographic information from every resident of the country and if a citizen's privacy is a fundamental right.

There were three separate judgments from Justices Sikri, Chandrachud and Bhushan. The CJI and Justice Khanwilkar did not deliver separate judgements and concurred with Justice Sikri. In his verdict, Justice Sikri has struck down portions of the law that made it mandatory for Aadhaar to be provided to corporations for various services. The Court said it can be used only for government services. It also said that children can't be excluded from school admissions due to lack of Aadhaar.

Justice Chandrachud has said that the Aadhaar Act shouldn't have been passed as a Money Bill and has also told telecom companies to delete all Aadhaar data received from customers. Justice Ashok Bhushan has largely agreed with the majority verdict and also noted that seeking biometric data wasn't a violation of an individual's privacy.

Now, private companies cannot insist on Aadhaar data and banks and phone companies cannot insist on Aadhaar-linking. Aadhaar, however, has to be linked to citizens' PAN (Permanent Account Number) information for the filing of tax returns.

Over one billion Indians have already signed up for Aadhaar, set up to be a secure form of digital identification for citizens to be used for government services.

Aadhaar Card: What you must know

- Private firms cannot insist on your Aadhaar information.
- So cell phone companies cannot seek your Aadhaar number.
- Your bank account does not have to be linked to your Aadhaar ID.
- Schools cannot seek your child's Aadhaar details, including for admission.
- Aadhaar should be linked to your PAN information for the filing of your tax returns.

Digital India cannot submerge identities

Technology confronts the future of freedom itself... Quest for digital India must be cognisant of the digital divide... Digital nation must not submerge the identities of a digitised citizen."

—Justice Chandrachud, Supreme Court

Blast of sound shocks people in Mysuru, Mandya and Pandavapura

Loud sound at 2.40 pm yesterday originated from Baby Betta stone quarrying site, says scientist

Mysuru, Sept. 26- Several Mysureans and residents of Mandya, Pandavapura and Srirangapatna experienced a mysterious rattling sound at around 2.40 pm yesterday. The sound was sharp and was of high intensity and its effects were felt across Mysuru, Srirangapatna, Pandavapura and parts of Mandya.

The loud sound came at a time when similar sounds were heard in Kodagu and Kerala after which floods and landslides struck. Fearing a similar situation in Mysuru, several residents called up Star of Mysore office to enquire about the sound. They wanted to know if an earthquake had hit the region.

While walls of some of the houses, window panes and vessels in the kitchen vibrated to the sound, in a few layouts people rushed out of their houses due to fear. Several residents said that the sound woke them up from the afternoon siesta and could not get sleep after that.

While Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar said that he too heard the blast but did not get any reports of earth shaking, the reason for the blast was pin-pointed to stone quarrying at Baby Betta near Pandavapura.

Scientist reacts

The sound was heard twice in close frequency duration and had emanated from the stone quarrying regions of Baby Betta where dynamites are used to blast rocks to extract stones and granites. Confirming this to Star of Mysore, C.N. Prabhu, scientist from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre in Bengaluru, said that there was no earthquake but the sound came from Baby Betta quarries.

"People need not panic. Two high-intensity explosives were used at Baby Betta and this has been recorded at the Earthquake Monitoring at Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam," he said and added that yesterday's blast was not an earthquake.

There are 14 Earthquake Monitoring Centres across the State including KRS, Bengaluru, Kodagu and Thippagondanahalli Reservoir near Bengaluru and in case of earthquakes, they will be recorded. "Yesterday's sound originated at Baby Betta and not due to earthquake," he added.

Mass in a Mess

Portraying India as the world's largest democracy in a tone of its glorified image may sound pleasing while citing its expanding population, currently estimated as 135 crore, as a mass may not sound heartening to those who have been writing in dailies expressing concern about meeting the yawning gap between the country's various resources and the rising needs of its masses in years ahead. The lay people, not bothering themselves about issues of population that the cognoscenti are talking about, are sure to feel the bite of too many people in the land at common sites such as ticket counters of bus stands, payment windows of banks, desks of officials collecting various taxes (such as in the nine zonal offices of Mysuru City Corporation), shops selling articles of consumption on the eve of festivals, roads for commuting by motorised vehicles during peak hours and so on.

Those who have taken trips to different countries would have noticed the residents of their highly dense urban spaces, similar to their counterparts in India, living in reasonably free from overcrowding, thanks to their sense of discipline and respect for the laws of their lands. The makeover of the mind in respect of even such Indians fades upon return to their homeland in the company of the masses.

While the goings in the country, both as reported in the media and the reality figuring in the interactions among the citizens during the day is there for all to see, we hear some sections in the mass expressing dismay and the rest unfazed despite facing the consequences upsetting their daily routine. The pages of history, particularly those indicating the way of life of people in the country of the distant past, generate thoughts of wondering about the change from all-is-well to nothing-is-well with the land and its people. Many among the elderly flock have given up hopes of the reverse change to all-is-well again.

The idiom Yathaa Raja Thathaa Praja (As is the king, so are his subjects) suggests itself upon the current scenario of those who have a sway on society indulging in unlawful and uncivil acts in a long list of such acts. As a well-known jurist of Karnataka has rightly observed, the present generation of leaders cannot bring about the change because they are the authors of the present mess.

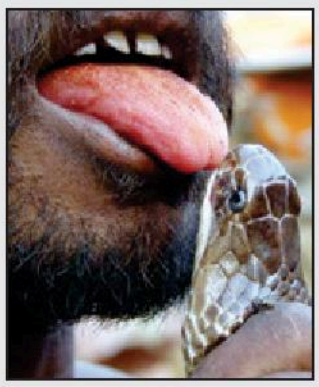
Man gets high thru snake-bites



Jaipur: A Journal of Psychological Medicine has recently reported the case of a man in Rajasthan who had been getting poisonous snakes to bite him on his tongue, because the usual narcotics no longer gave him the buzz he was looking for.

He told researchers at the Institute of Medical Education and Research, in Chandigarh, India, that he had been subjecting himself to snake bites on the tongue for months, in order to get the buzz he no longer felt using regular narcotics. He did so on the advice of a friend who had been getting snake bites for years, and insisted that the practice is quite common in his community.

Cobra venom contains one of the most potent neurotoxins on earth. The amount injected in a single bite is enough to kill many adults and even an elephant.

Tattoo artist's realistic tattoos on human skin

Auckland: Tattoo artist Steve Butcher of New Zealand specialises in hyper-realistic tattoos that look like they've been printed on the skin instead of hand inked with a tattoo gun.

Butcher is one of the most in demand tattoo artists at conventions all around the world and looking at his work, it's easy to see why. His designs are perfect down to the smallest details, as he always seems to nail even the toughest elements like tiny drops of sweat, hair or reflections in the eyes of his characters.

As for his favorite thing to ink, the gifted artist says "anything NBA related, as I am basketball fan". Believe it or not, he's only been doing tattoos for five years and says he still has much to learn. When he's not tattooing or traveling, Butcher loves to paint.

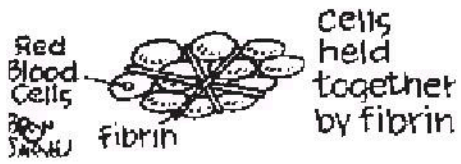
What causes stroke?



A stroke begins with a blood clot, the body's way of healing injury. Atherosclerosis is a condition of the arteries in which plaque begins to build up. If the plaque ruptures, a blood clot may form. If the clot breaks loose, it may travel up the carotid artery, blocking blood supply to the brain. This is ischemic stroke.

Really...?

- Scaphism was a Persian torture method. The name comes from the Greek skáphe, meaning "anything scooped (or hollowed) out". In scaphism, a person was stripped naked and was tied down inside two empty boats, one on top of the other. Next, they were forced to ingest milk and honey. The milk and honey gave the person diarrhoea and the faeces attracted insects. Insects feed and breed on the victim while he was tied down and rotting in his own faeces. The infections would become extremely torturous. Therefore, it led to a slow excruciating death. In an ancient description Life of Artaxerxes, Plutarch talks this method. Protect heritage Krishnaraja Boulevard with iron grills

Sir,

Krishnaraja Boulevard or KR Boulevard is a heritage avenue in Mysuru City. Many heritage structures like the Law Courts, Sri Chamarajendra Urs Boarding School, District Board Office, Oriental Research Institute, Old University Office Building etc., are located on this stretch.

The Road was named after the great King Nalwadi Krishna Raja Wadiyar, who had immensely contributed to Mysore. He was seen by Paul Brunton as living the ideal expressed in Plato's Republic. He has been compared to Emperor Ashoka by the English Statesman Lord Samuel. Mahatma Gandhi called him Rajarshi, or "saintly king", and his kingdom was described by his followers as Rama Rajya, an ideal kingdom akin to the rule of Lord Rama.

Acknowledging Krishna Raja Wadiyar IV's noble and efficient kingship, Lord John Sankey declared in 1930 at the II Round Table Conference in London, "Mysore is the best administered State in the world."

Recently the glamour Road has been neglected by the civic authorities. Once recognised for its magnificence and maintained regularly with grills protecting the median, the Boulevard has been ignored in recent years.

As the grills guarding the wide medians have been systematically removed over the last few months, there are no lawns; the trees not watered; the Boulevard is unkempt and is now reduced to a parking lot.

When Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) authorities can protect the newly-developed parks in Vishwamanava Double Road in Kuvempunagar, why can't they protect the heritage Boulevard? The Boulevard spans more than 1-km in length making it one of the more graceful thoroughfares of the city reflecting the glory of old Mysore but the MCC has reportedly turned a blind eye towards the creeping decay. Since this time the Open Street Festival is to be conducted on KR Boulevard, it is high time for the City Corporation authorities to protect the Boulevard with iron grills.

Forum alleges discrepancies in appointment of Mysore University Guest Lecturers

Mysuru, Sept. 26 - The Guest Lecturers Forum (Athithi Upanyasakara Okkoota), University of Mysore (UoM), has alleged irregularities in the appointment of Guest Lecturers.

In a press release, the Forum claimed that UoM Registrar Prof. R. Rajanna had thrown UGC norms to the wind in the appointment of new Guest Lecturers in various Departments for the year 2018-19.

Claiming that the University Syndicate at a meeting chaired by the then Acting Vice-Chancellor Prof. T.K. Umesh had decided to continue with the Guest Lecturers appointed in 2017-18, the Forum alleged that undeserving candidates were appointed as guest faculty at the behest of Prof. Rajanna who was out to set personal scores.

Accusing Prof. Rajanna of taking caste and money into consideration in the appointment of new Guest Lecturers, while ignoring the credentials of deserving candidates, the Forum urged for stopping the interference of the Registrar in all academic issues.

Maintaining that Prof. Rajanna became the Registrar through dubious means, although the High Court and the Governor had refrained the authorities from appointing Rajanna to the post, the Forum urged the Governor-Chancellor to order a fair probe into the appointment of Guest Lecturers (2018-19).

Demanding sacking of Prof. Rajanna from his post, the Forum warned of launching an indefinite hunger stir in front of Crawford Hall.

MCDCC Bank to approach CoD over Rs.27 crore fraud

Heated arguments broke out between the farmers and the Bank officials during the 64th AGM of MCDCC Bank in city yesterday.

Mysuru, Sept.26- Pandemonium prevailed during the 64th Annual General Body Meeting (AGM) of Mysuru and Chamarajanaga District Central Co-operative Bank (MCDCC) held in the city yesterday. Soon as the meeting commenced, heated arguments broke out between the farmers and the Bank officials, which ensued in a minor scuffle.

The Bank staff of Hunsur and Bilikere branches had misused Rs.27 crore meant to be distributed among farmers by diverting the money into their accounts.

As the meeting, presided over by Bank President S. Chandrashekar, progressed, the farmers of Hunsur and Bilikere region started arguing and vented out their ire against the Directors.

The farmers started moving towards the dais, which resulted in commotion. The farmers picketed the Bank President Chandrashekar and demanded his resignation. G.D. Harish Gowda, a Director of the Bank and son of Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda, who raised the issue of irregularities, blamed some higher ups of conniving with those involved in irregularities.

Without taking the name of Chandrashekar, Harish Gowda charged him of deliberately transferring officers who unearthed the irregularities only to save his face. Officers accused of the irregularities were suspended only to be reinstated after sometime, he regretted.

In his defence, S. Chandrashekar, maintaining that he had initiated criminal proceedings against officials involved in the irregularities, said that the Bank Managers Ramappa Poojar and Niranjan and other staff Krishna and Naveen have been suspended.

Assuring that loans would be disbursed to the farmers shortly, he said that Senior Manager Hiriyanna has been appointed as the in-charge CEO of the Bank. Even as Chandrashekar defended himself, the enraged Bank Directors raised slogans against him and insisted on a thorough probe, when it was decided to recommend for a probe by Corps of Detectives (CoD), Special Units and Economic Offences.

The Bank officials of Hunsur and Bilikere branches were accused of delaying issuance of loans of the farmers, with some officials even telling a few farmers that the loans were not sanctioned. It later came to light that the officials had misused Rs. 27 crore meant for distribution among the farmers and had diverted it to their accounts reportedly for investing in the share market and money-lending business.

ZP Member smells scam in 'Shoe Bhagya'

Mysuru, Sept.26- The flagship 'Shoe Bhagya' scheme of the previous Congress Government that aimed at distributing a pair of shoes and two pairs of socks to school children in the State, has run into controversy in the district, with Congress ZP Member Sri Krishna on Tuesday alleging large scale irregularities in the purchase of shoes for students of Government Schools in parts of H.D. Kote taluk.

After a heated debate over the issue at the ZP meeting, Chief Executive Officer (CEO), K. Jyothi eventually ordered a probe by a three-member Committee which includes the DDPI, the complainant and the President of School Development Monitoring Committee (SDMC).

Sri Krishna, an advocate representing Hampapura in H.D. Kote taluk in ZP, who had lodged a complaint in this regard with the CEO two months ago in July, had brought it to the notice of the officer that shoes distributed to the students of Government Higher and Lower Primary School at Hommaragalli coming under his constituency was of sub-standard quality.

Revealing how he found out the irregularities, he said that a pair of school shoes manufactured by the supplier company costs Rs.150, while the bills claimed the cost to be between Rs.260 and Rs.350.

Maintaining that the shoes neither conformed to ISI standards nor have batch numbers, which clearly indicates that they are of poor quality, Sri Krishna demanded a probe into the irregularities.

Leader of the Opposition D. Ravishankar, who buttressed the allegations of his fellow ZP Member Sri Krishna, too demanded a detailed probe into the irregularities. As the probe demand continued, ZP CEO K. Jyothi formed the three-member Committee and asked it to submit a report within three days.

ZP President Nayeema Sultana, Vice-President G. Nataraj and others were present.

'Indifference is the biggest disease in India'

Seminar on 'Save Western Ghats Campaign'

Mysuru, Sept.26 (RKB&US)- Janachetana Trust and Swadeshi Jagaran Manch Karnataka (SJMK) together had organised a seminar on 'Save Western Ghats Campaign' at the Mini Auditorium in Kalamandira premises here yesterday. About 200 environmentalists and students participated in the seminar.

Inaugurating the programme, Senior Environmentalist Dr. Yellappa Reddy regretted that the Western Ghats was being destroyed very badly which almost amounts to desecrating 'Bhoothayi' or Mother Earth.

He commended that older generation who built temples atop many hills which prevented people from destroying hills. He pointed out that on the pretext of development, Western Ghats was being destroyed.

Referring to the recent natural calamity in Kerala and Kodagu, Dr. Yellappa Reddy regretted that politicians were only interested in relief materials and not bothered to introspect on the natural reasons behind the calamity.

He asserted that indifference was the greatest disease in India. He regretted that the Government has neither brain nor heart to probe a calamity.

Environmentalist and Swadeshi Jagaran Manch National Convenor B.M. Kumaraswamy and Organic Farmer Nimala Gowda spoke. Trust President Prasanna N. Gowda, SJMK Convenor N.R. Manjunath and others were present.

Bengaluru, Sept. 26 - The Criminal Investigation Department (CID) has submitted the charge-sheet against Raghaveshwara Bharathi Swamiji, pontiff of Shivamogga-based Ramachandrapura Mutt and six others in an alleged rape case, at a Court here on Saturday.

According to sources, the CID has submitted a 1,340-page charge-sheet before the First Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate which also contains the statements of 151 witnesses.

IPC Sections 376(2)(N) (repeated rape) and 508 (act caused by inducing person to believe that he/she will be rendered an object of the divine displeasure), among others, have been invoked in the case. It may be recalled that Raghaveshwara Swamiji was first accused of raping his devotee Premalatha Shastri. This particular high profile case had taken many interesting turns in the past year after Premalatha's daughter alleged that her mother was raped by the Seer on several occasions in the past few years.

A second complaint against the Seer is also being probed by CID. One Yakshagana artiste had filed a complaint that she was sexually harassed by the Seer and he had raped her in 2006 when she was staying in the Mutt's hostel in Hosanagar. The complaint was filed at Girinagar Police Station which has now been transferred to CID.

His daughter's wedding was fixed on Oct.29

Kushalappa

Somwarpet, Sept.26 (KS)- A farmer, who had grown coffee and pepper after taking loans and suffered loss due to floods and landslides, committed suicide by shooting himself with a gun at Taltareshettalli village in Kodagu on Monday morning.

Kushalappa had taken loans from District Co-operative Bank, Shanthalli Agricultural Credit Co-operative Society, private banks and had also taken loans from private financers to the tune of Rs.24 lakh for his coffee plantation and to grow pepper.

The deceased has four children and had got his daughter married. Another daughter's marriage was fixed on Oct.29 for which he had to arrange money. Even his wife Kamala was not keeping well and is undergoing dialysis for which he was supposed to arrange funds.

As he was in huge financial crisis, Kushalappa is said to have taken the extreme step.

Somwarpet Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka suggests on what should be fed to baby pigeon and tells why parakeet suddenly loses its feathers?

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

A pigeon has laid an egg in a nest near my house. The egg has hatched and a small baby pigeon has come out but the mother died so I have kept that baby pigeon with me. What food should I give the baby pigeon?

In nature, the mother and father feed the baby a thin milk like substance which they generate from their own bodies. You need to give a very thin mixture, the consistency of skimmed milk, as well. This is what you can mix: biscuits soaked in water combined with soaked and mashed warm peas and soaked and mashed corn. This should be gradually thickened over the first 10 days to the consistency of ketchup. You can add mashed apple, wholemeal bread, soaked oats.

What NOT to feed baby birds: Water, bread or bread products, whole birdseed, milk, worms, kitchen scraps.

The best guide to feeding them is to let them eat until the crop is soft and squidgy, like a balloon 3/4 filled with water. The crop hangs like a bag down the inside of a pigeon's chest.

There are small bubbles that appear on a hatchling's shoulders when it has received enough food. Once these bubbles start to inflate, stop feeding, it means that the crop is full enough. Allow the crop to empty completely.

Could you tell me which is the most intelligent rabbit species?

All rabbits are intelligent. The most intelligent would be the wild variety, but it is illegal for you to have them.

I have brought some parakeets home. But now their tiny feathers are falling off in our home. Will these feathers cause any harm to us?

Why have you bought birds? It is a vicious and cruel thing to do. These birds are taken from their families into cages. Thousands die after capture. Is it fair for them to lead lives in jails? And instead of worrying about the bird, you are worried about the harm the feathers will cause you?

When a parakeet suddenly loses its feathers, this is why: Parrots typically go through moulting phases, where they shed their old feathers to make way for new ones. This is completely normal and should cause no concern for owners. After owning a parrot for a while, you are likely to become familiar with their moulting process. Normally, moulting should only result in small patches of lightly covered feathers on a parrot. If your parrot is completely bald on some areas, it is not moulting.

Malnutrition: If a parakeet isn't consuming the vitamins, minerals, protein, and other key nutrients it needs, its feathers may slowly fall out as a result. Make sure your parrot is fed a well-balanced diet of vegetables, fruit, bird seed, bird pellets that you get from pet shops. All these should be bite-sized pieces.

Feather Plucking: Parakeets that are emotionally and/ or physically stressed, may pluck their feathers. Over time, this can lead to bald patches, or even open wounds. Perhaps your parakeet isn't receiving enough mental stimulation. Most parrot and bird species are naturally social creatures in the wild; therefore, they crave the attention of others. Forcing your parrot to remain cooped up inside its cage, alone with no mental stimulation, will result in boredom along with a variety of other psychological disorders. When parrots are bored, they may pluck their feathers to relieve some of the built-up frustration.

Skin Disease: Another common cause of feather plucking is related to skin disease. Studies have shown that 40% of parrots, exhibiting this behaviour, are suffering from some type of skin disease. Parakeets are incredibly sensitive to the elements. Excessive humidity, dust and chemicals in the air, can all irritate their skin. Remove all chemical usage from the room, like phenyl in the pocha and make sure they get fresh air. It could also be parasites, like mites, on their skin.

The feathers will grow back once you start addressing these problems.

Is it safe to have cats and a pet rat together in the same house?

Why do you want to create so much tension for yourself and the rest of the beings in the house. It is an instinctual habit for the cat to prey on the rat. Some cats have a very high prey drive and will attack any small mammal introduced into the home. Do you want a circus going on all the time, with everyone running to save the rat? Do you want to keep the rat caged and fearful all the time? What do you want from your pets? Unhappiness?

Do you think that a wagging tail of a dog doesn't always mean that it is happy?

The tail is a communication device. Dogs use their tails to communicate strong emotions, such as agitation, annoyance and anger, as well as happiness. They even wag their tails to spread their natural scent from their anal glands. Stiff tails means the dog is getting ready to be aggressive, slow tail wags means that they are hesitant about something. Wagging their tails just between their legs means they are afraid. Even the left wag of the tail means something different to the right wag.

Are donkeys intelligent?

Donkeys are not stupid and lazy. Donkeys are very social animals. They will not move in situations they perceive as dangerous. This prevents a lot of accidents. Donkeys have an incredible memory — they can recognise areas, and other donkeys they were with, up to 25 years ago. Donkeys have a reputation for stubbornness, but this is due to their highly developed sense of self preservation. It is difficult to force or frighten a donkey into doing something it sees as contrary to its own best interest or safety.

Allowance of Rs. 10,000 a month for Kodagu flood victims: Minister

U.T. Khader

Bengaluru, Sept. 26 (KMS&BCT)- The State government has decided to pay Rs. 10,000 every month to those who lost their houses in the recent floods in Kodagu till permanent structures are built for them, instead of constructing temporary houses.

Speaking at Vikasa Soudha here yesterday, Minister for Housing U.T. Khader said that the proposal to construct temporary sheds was dropped. Till the houses were constructed for the affected people, the government has decided to give Rs. 10,000 compensation to each of the families which lost everything.

"The government had earlier decided to build temporary sheds for flood victims. The decision was, however, scrapped as it was thought better to disburse a compensation of Rs. 10,000 to each family, till permanent shelters are built," he said.

Around 700-800 families have lost their houses in the disaster in the district and they were identified. It was decided to construct model houses at a cost of Rs. 6 lakh each on the place to be identified by the Kodagu Deputy Commissioner, he said.

The State-level Committee had accorded permission to build one lakh houses under the Chief Minister's Housing Scheme and orders had been issued build over 49,500 houses across the State.

The construction will commence at the earliest, he said. It has also been decided that 23,152 houses would be constructed through the Slum Area Development Board and tenders have been finalised for that, he said.

Rural housing

Beneficiaries of housing schemes implemented by the Rajiv Gandhi Rural Housing Corporation Limited (RGRHCL) would now have time till Oct. 15 to submit applications for release of funds that have been locked over non-compliance of norms, said Khader.

The Minister said that the Department had decided to extend the deadline to ensure that genuine beneficiaries do not miss out on the opportunity.

Claiming Court stay, use of land near Lalitha Mahal Palace for Dasara events is objected

This is the Notice Board put up by one K. Manu, who calls himself the GPA holder of the owner of the property S. Meenakshi and family. He has given his Mobile Number in the Notice Board as 97415-34705.

The Public Notice reads as follows:

PRIVATE PROPERTY NO TRESPASSING

The property bearing Sy. No. 4, situated in Block No. 'A' and 'C' wherein in Block 'A' extent 5 acres and Block 'C' 2 acres, total 7 acres of land, situated at Kurubarahally Village, Kasaba Hobli, Mysore tq, belongs to Smt. S. Meenakshi & children.

The Deputy Commissioner, Mysore, has held that land in Sy. No. 4 situated at Kurubarahally Village, Kasaba Hobli, Mysore tq, as 'B karabh' in RRT 540/2015 on 26/05/2015.

Smt. Meenakshi has challenged the order of Deputy Commissioner in RRT 540/2015 before Hon'ble High Court of Karnataka in W.P. 25462-25497/2015 the Hon'ble High Court of Karnataka has stayed the order of Deputy Commissioner, Mysore, on06-07-2015.

Mysuru, Sept. 26 (SBD&DM)- Even as the countdown for Dasara festivities has begun, a woman claiming to be the owner of land adjacent to Lalitha Mahal in city, has opposed the move of the District Authorities to organise Dasara programmes on this vacant land and has even erected a notice board at the plot (see pic).

One S. Meenakshi, who claims to be the owner of the land, has maintained that 5 acres of land in 'A' Block and 2 acres of land in 'C' block (totalling 7 acres) coming under Kurubarahalli Sy. No. 4 belongs to her.

Earlier, GPA holder K. Manu, on Sept. 14, had submitted a memorandum to DC Abhiram G. Sankar appealing him not to allow use of the said land for Dasara events.

"As part of Dasara festivities, the Tourism Department, in association with Pavan Hans Limited, has planned to organise helicopter jolly rides from this land. The Department is also planning to hold a moto cross race / rally at the land adjacent to this which also belongs to their (Meenakshi) family. The Automotive Sports Club of Mysuru, which has publicised organising the rally on a permanent basis, is planning to construct permanent structures at the land. But the then DC in 2015 had passed an order declaring a total of 1,563 acres of 31 guntas of land coming under Kurubarahalli Sy. No. 4 as 'B-Kharab' land. Later, her family moved the High Court, which granted a stay to the DC's order on July 6, 2015. As such, it is not correct to use the said land for Government programmes. As the said land comes under the purview of the High Court stay order, the Government must not organise any Dasara events on this land. Also, other Government and private organisations too should not be allowed to use this land for any programmes," said the memorandum submitted to the Deputy Commissioner by GPA holder Manu on behalf of Meenakshi's family.

This issue has come to the fore at a time when property owners in Siddarthanagar coming under Kurubarahalli Survey No.4 and property owners in K.C. Nagar, J.C. Nagar, Alanahalli and Income Tax Layouts coming under Alanahalli Survey No. 41 are an aggrieved lot as they cannot do any transactions in respect of their plots as MUDA and MCC have stopped issuing land records, khata transfer, building plans, CR etc., after the May 2015 DC order which said that land coming under Kurubarahalli Survey No. 4 and Alanahalli Survey No. 41 was 'B-Kharab' land (Government land). When such is the situation, the aggrieved property owners of these MUDA developed layouts have begun to question on how the Government can use a private land (which has been granted a stay by the High Court as being declared as 'B-Kharab' land) for its events.

Blast of sound shocks people

However, Mandya SP Shivaprakash Devaraju said that he does not have any official information about the mining blasts at Baby Betta.

It may be recalled here that on Sept. 20, Star of Mysore had published a report 'Stone Mining at Baby Betta: Threat to safety of KRS' where it was highlighted how stone quarrying activities at Baby Betta Reserve Forests in Pandavapura Taluk is posing great danger to KRS Dam.

The report mentioned how the quarries are operating withaout even paying the mandatory taxes and royalty to the State government, causing a huge loss to the exchequer and possible danger to KRS Dam.

Stone Crusher Owners' Association claims there is no threat to KRS

Mysuru, Sept. 26- The Stone Crusher Owners and Quarry Owners Association, Pandavapura in Mandya District, has clarified that their mining activities in Baby Betta and surrounding areas are not a threat to Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam.

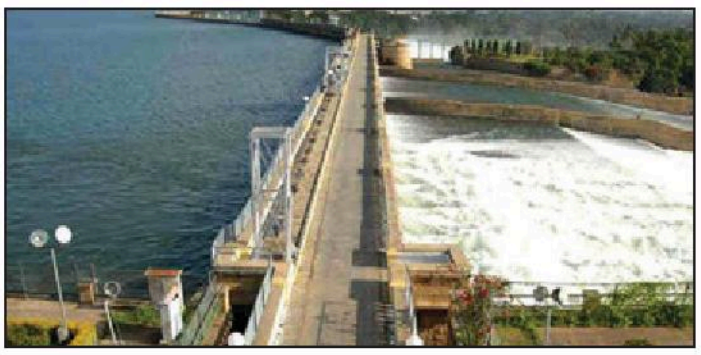
In a press release, President of Association K. Krishna, Treasurer A.S. Ramesh and Secretary C. Shivakumar have said that the recent reports that the mining activities were damaging the KRS Dam were not true. The Association has said that the quarries operate within permissible limits of vibrations around the stone quarrying while extracting stones through the process of blasting.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Shivakumar said that the recorded ground vibration is as low as 1mm per second beyond a distance of 600 metres from the quarry. The vibrations are well within the permissible limits and the KRS Dam is located about 8 kilometres from the quarries and is safe with respect to the blasting practices at the quarries, they said.

The Association has claimed that it has scientific evidence and reports from reputed geologists and rock engineers that point out that the Dam has no threat from blasting at quarries.

KRS Dam: Forewarned is Forearmed

By K.B. Ganapathy, Editor-in-Chief



The fact that the sound of the blast was recorded at the Earthquake Monitoring Centre at Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam according to C.N. Prabhu, scientist from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre in Bengaluru, should cause serious concern about the safety of the Dam to those authorities entrusted with the responsibility of ensuring the Dam's safety and strength. It would be wise if a safety survey or investigation is undertaken immediately now that there is proof that what happens at the stone quarry at Baby Betta, 8 kms away, surely has an impact on the area where the Dam is located.

Having lived in Pune for seven years, I still remember people recalling the breaching of Panshet Dam a few miles above Pune city during the 1961 monsoon season. The Dam had burst fortunately early in the morning and the flood waters reached Pune later in the morning. The deluge of flood waters of Panshet Dam was such that it broke the small Khadakvasla Dam further downstream and headed towards Pune city through Mula and Mutha Rivers. Because of the warning many residents fled to higher grounds.

Most parts of the city on the banks of the rivers were flooded. It was sad at that time even when the cracks were observed there was debate whether the Dam was in real imminent danger. Because of the Army jawans who were piling up thousands of sand bags to protect the Dam, the people downstream had enough time to move to the higher grounds.

Well, prevention is better than cure. Will our politicians and the bureaucracy get rid of their ostrich behaviour and appoint a Commission of Scientists and experts to inquire into this incident and give the report in 30 days? Forewarned is forearmed.

Job promotions for Scheduled Caste and Tribes

No need to refer verdict to larger Bench, says SC

New Delhi, Sept. 26 - The Supreme Court this morning said its 2006 verdict putting benefits of quotas in job promotions for Scheduled Castes (SC) and Scheduled Tribes (ST) employees need not be referred to a Seven-Judge Bench. The Apex Court also turned down the Centre's plea that overall population of SC/ST be considered for granting quota for them.

The unanimous judgement was pronounced by a Five-Judge Constitution Bench headed by Chief Justice Dipak Misra. The Bench, comprising Justices Kurian Joseph, R.F. Nariman, S.K. Kaul and Indu Malhotra, said States need not collect quantifiable data on backwardness of SC/ST for giving quota in job promotion to SC/ST employees.

The Bench did not comment on two other conditions given in the 2006 verdict which dealt with adequacy of representation of SC/ST in promotion and not to disturb administrative efficiency. The Court's verdict came on petitions seeking that a Seven-Judge Bench reconsiders the Court's 2006 judgement which had put conditions for granting quota benefits in job promotions for SC/ST employees.

A Five-Judge Constitution Bench, in its 2006 verdict in the M. Nagaraj case, had said States are bound to provide quantifiable data on the backwardness of SC and ST, the facts about their inadequate representation in government jobs and overall administrative efficiency.

Dasara events at Govt. land near Lalitha Mahal

Meanwhile, Ministers GTD and S.R. Mahesh and DC Abhiram G. Sankar, reacting to the news item which stated that the owners of the land next to Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel have objected to the usage of the land for Dasara programmes, said that the event was being held in the 'B-Kharab' land which belongs to the government and hence there would be no problem. They also stated that they have not received any communication in this regard from the Court and they came to know about this issue only through the newspaper.

GTD said that the event is being held for Darasa festivities which is a public event and added that the event will be held successfully.

Kodagu Tourism hit hard after flood devastation

Madikeri, Sept.26 (PS&SR)- Kodagu was acclaimed as one of the best tourist spots in the country till a few months back. But tourism in the hilly district seems to have been hit hard without much visitors to the spots after the recent devastation.

As many as 18 lakh footfalls had been registered at the tourist spots of the district in the first half of this year going by official figures. Tourism took a severe beating since August. The devastating floods and landslides have discouraged visitors from thronging the tourist spots. Only a few, majority of them youths, are visiting Dubare Elephant Camp, Cauvery Nisargadhama, Raja Seat, Abbey Falls, Irupu Falls, Mallalli Falls, Harangi Reservoir and other tourist destinations.

The disaster tourism has taken over and visitors are now being taken to have a look at the tragic spots which have rendered the inhabitants homeless and landless. The influx of nature-loving tourists during weekends is not much to be seen these days.

People, who were operating home stays and others who depended upon tourism for their livelihood after investing lakhs of rupees, have been badly affected without any business in recent days. A majority of hotel and home stay owners, who had employed hundreds of workers, have sent them back to their native.

Few footfalls in Raja Seat

The Raja Seat, which is a must-see spot, has had only a few footfalls in the past few days. As many as 5,000 visitors went to this spot daily, according to official records. During weekends, the number of visitors used to swell but now the number has dwindled to a mere 50 daily.

"I had seen the pictures of various areas of Kodagu submerged in water and fully covered with mud heaps due to landslides in social networking sites. But now, I realised the extent of damage occurred after seeing the spots in person. The whole village has been destroyed by landslides in some places. I never imagined that Kodagu would witness such a devastating tragedy," said Malini from Puttur.

The hills cracked and crumbled while the rivers swallowed everything on its way — century-old houses, brand new home stays, tiny tea shops, lush green paddy fields, vast swathes of coffee plantations, forests, livestock, bridges and vehicles.

Incessant rains submerged low-lying areas in Kushalnagar, Somwarpet and Madikeri, pilgrimage centres like Talacauvery and Bhagamandala, and major bridges like Bethri, while landslides turned National Highways into death traps.

People from outstation destinations are now making a beeline to have a look at those calamity-ravaged sites in north Kodagu.

Sadly, disaster tourism, which was unheard of so far, seems to be thriving in this district. But the hilly district hopes to improve on tourism with the commencement of Dasara festivities. Speaking to Star of Mysore, Santhosh from Kumta in Uttara Kannada District, who came along with his family, said he was aghast to see the damaged sites in Kodagu during his recent visit as the damage was beyond one's imagination.

'Trekking spots turn death traps'

Kodagu, apart from being a tourist destination, is also a hotspot for trekking. The district, which is an adventurer's paradise, has a dozen trekking spots that provide an offbeat experience to visitors.

Some of the popular trekking spots are Thadiyandamol, Nishani Betta, Kumaraparvatha Range, Brahmagiri range, Kotebetta Mandalapatti, Kallubetta, Kopattimale, Second Monnangeri, Vanachalu, Makkala Gudibetta, Garwale, Soorlabbi and Kaluru.

Trekkers used to descend from a waterfall near Thadiyandamol for adventure. Sunrise and hillside camping also provided a unique experience to trekkers.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Head of Arohana Trekking Association K.K. Maheshkumar said that most of these trekking spots that gave a thrill to the visitors are either destroyed or turned into death traps. He said the district will take some years to revive trek tourism.

People squabble over ownership of uprooted trees

Madikeri, Sept. 26 (US)- The recent rain and landslide havoc in Kodagu has uprooted thousands of trees. State Chief Secretary and the Deputy Commissioner of the district have entrusted the responsibility of clearing the uprooted trees to the Forest Department. But the forest officials are now faced with a piquant problem as the owners of the lands are squabbling over the ownership of trees !

Madikeri Region DFO Manjunath says that trees belonging to someone, on uprooting during the natural calamity, have fallen on the land of someone else thus ruling out the question of ownership. He has appealed the public to understand the situation and co-operate with the Forest Department to get the trees cleared. He added that the trees cannot be handed over to the land owners as it is impossible to authenticate the ownership of a tree.

Sometime ago when Forest officials were clearing the fallen trees in Jodupala, the land owners and villagers had strongly opposed the action of the Forest Department. The protestors had alleged that the Department officials were trying to sell the trees to timber merchants. However, the forest officials had contended that the timber merchants were given licence and permit only to cut the trees and transport the logs to Depot at Anekaadu.

Trees fallen by the road side have already been cleared. Those fallen in rivers and on paddy fields are being removed in a phased manner. The quantity of wood and estimated value are being furnished to the Government, according to Forest officials who have sought enough Police protection for clearing the uprooted trees.

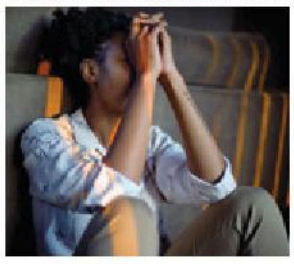
WORD OF THE DAY

Melancholia

Pronunciation: mel-un-KOH-lee-uh



Meaning: A mental condition and especially a manic-depressive condition characterised by extreme depression, bodily complaints, and often hallucinations and delusions.

Origin: Today's word traces back to Greek melan- ("black, dark") and cholē ("bile"). Medical practitioners once adhered to the system of humors—bodily fluids that included black bile, yellow bile, blood, and phlegm. An imbalance of these humors was thought to lead to disorders of the mind and body. One suffering from an excess of black bile (believed to be secreted by the kidneys or spleen) could become sullen and unsociable—liable to anger, irritability, brooding, and depression. Today, doctors no longer ascribe physical and mental disorders to disruptions of the four humors, but the word melancholia is still used in psychiatry (it is identified as a "subtype" of clinical depression in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders) and as a general term for despondency. The older term melancholy, ultimately from the same Greek roots, is historically a synonym of melancholia but now more often refers to a sad or pensive mood.

THE ODD WORD

Epicure

A person who takes particular pleasure in fine food and drink.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

There's no such thing as a free lunch

Meaning: Things that are offered for free always have a hidden cost.

Origin: Free lunch was a commonplace term in the USA and, to a lesser extent in Britain, from the mid 19th century onward. Milton Friedman certainly believed that 'there's no such thing as a free lunch' and he published a book with that title in 1975, but wasn't, and never claimed to be, the originator of the phrase. Henry Wallace, the US Vice-President wrote an article which was originally published by The Atlantic Monthly in which he suggested a post-WWII worldwide economic regime offering "minimum standards of food, clothing and shelter" for people throughout the world and offering the opinion that "If we can afford tremendous sums of money to win the war, we can afford to invest whatever amount it takes to win the peace". The phrase 'there ain't no such thing as a free lunch' version of the phrase is often reduced to the acronym TANSTAAFL. This is widely associated with science fiction writer Robert Heinlein who used the term in his 1966 novel The Moon is a Harsh Mistress.
